

Neues Bimplus Projekt anlegen

Only the owner of a Bimplus team or a team administrator can create new Bimplus projects in the team. The team owner or team administrator automatically gets the rights of a project administrator for all projects created in the team. The team owner or team administrator can then appoint more project administrators.

Note: If you are the team owner or team administrator, you can also create a new Bimplus project when you upload a specialist model from Allplan for the first time (see "Uploading specialist models to Bimplus and managing these models").
